LORD BERESFORD HOME

London, March 8. — Lord Charles Beresford landed this afternoon at Southampton on the American liner St. Louis after six months' hard work as the British empire's commercial traveler in China and the United States. The gallant admiral said he felt all right and fit for anything.

When asked to give his opinion on the future of China trade, the feeling in the United States on the matter and future relations of Great Britain and the United States Lord Beresford said:

"There is only one thing to do, and that is to maintain a policy of open door. If we don't have that policy and if we go in for spheres of influence we shall drift into war. Spheres of influence means every country grabbing something, and if all the powers begin grabbing land in China they are bound to quarrel and war will be the result. I am convinced that we can keep China on her feet if we do not go in for a policy of every nation grasping territory for itself."

"The thing for Japan, Germany, the United States and Great Britain to do is to agree in maintaining the open-door policy, insisting that no ports shall be closed against their ships of trade. So far as trade is concerned Great Britain is a predominant partner in China. We must keep ports open if we are to keep our trade. As for competition, America is going ahead with leaps and bounds, faster than we are, but at present we have more trade than everybody else. The trade of China last year was worth £55,000,000, of which 55 per cent was with British traders."

"While in America I endeavored to show that with her growing trade she is as much interested as England, Germany and Japan in securing unrestricted trade with China. Of course I do not suggest a cut-and-dried alliance between these powers or between us and America. I don't think it necessary, and I don't suggest for a moment that America would join an alliance of that kind, but I think we might agree, working together, to maintain an open door."

Lord Charles Beresford expressed his appreciation of the kind treatment which he had received in America and paid a glowing tribute to the business activity and industry of the country. He stated positively his mission was purely commercial and not political.

Captain Smith Wants a Divorce.

Captain John Tremaine Smith, master of the steamship City of Peking, has sued for a divorce from his wife, Henrietta Jorss Smith, on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. The Smiths were married in Sausalito in 1887, and have made their home in Yokohama. Mrs. Smith recently left for England, stating that she never intended to return. Her husband accuses her further of undue indulgence in cigarettes and champagne. It is not expected that the divorce will be contested, but as the husband asks for the custody of the minor child, now in England, there may be a contest on that point. Mrs. Smith is said to be a striking beauty. — Chronicle, March 9.

HORN FLY IN KAU.

What a Rancher of That District Says.

A Kau correspondent writing on the horn fly, has the following to say: "The first horn flies made their appearance here about the middle of last July and increased steadily in numbers until about the first of December, when they decreased, not showing up in any great quantities."

"About the first of last month, they increased again and now they are thick. From this, it would seem that they have certain periods during the year when they increase greatly in numbers. Of course, the periods cannot be stated just now, for the horn flies have not been in the district long enough for one to form any accurate idea as to their habits."

"The flies are a great deal worse at the beach or at a low elevation, than they are higher up. At an elevation of 6000 feet, I have noticed but a very few, and the lower you get down, the worse they are."

"From what I have been able to observe, I do not see that they kill the stock. However, they do worry cattle a great deal. When I find cattle that are worried more than others (and the flies certainly do prefer some cattle to others) I remove these to a higher altitude. There is complete recovery when this is done."

POSTAL TELEPHONES.

British Government Takes a Hand in the Business.

London, March 8. — The welcome announcement was made by the Financial Secretary of the Treasury, R. W. Haubury, in the House of Commons today, that the Government has decided to introduce competition in the telephonic service of this country. He asked for a credit of $10,000,000 as a starter in order to enable the Postoffice Department to develop the telephonic communication of London.

In making the announcement Mr. Haubury admitted that it was a notorious fact that Great Britain was far behind the United States and other countries in the matter of telephonic communication.

The House ultimately adopted a resolution embodying Mr. Haubury's proposal.

Impure Blood

Rheumatism, Kidney Troubles and Sick Headache the Results—Doctored for Years Without Relief.

"My blood was out of order, and I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. It has purified my blood and relieved me of rheumatism, kidney trouble and sick headaches. I have been afflicted with these difficulties for years. I am now able to do a good day's work. Rheumatism has troubled me since I was a child, but I am now entirely well." Miss PHEBE BAILLEY, Box 445, Pasadena, California.

"I have suffered from the effects of impure blood, boils, pimples, etc., for five years. I have tried various remedies without relief and finally purchased six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The boils and pimples have all disappeared since I began taking this medicine. I am now entirely cured." LOUIS THOMAS, 1412 11th Street, Oakland, California.
